

“To transform a short moment of exciting ideas into a high-impacting business. That’s how I see Startups!”

Marco A. Quége
Senior Management Consultant Mercuri Urval Austria

Marco is a target oriented human resources and general management executive with a solid academic background, strong focus on business results, people management and execution of mid-long-term strategy.

He is celebrating 20 years of professional experience – national & international – in human resources, business management, headhunting and teaching. Marco served for many years as a professor in the field of Corporate Turnaround and People Management in Brazil and Austria and he loves the idea of sharing knowledge and experiences.

One of his favorite quotes: “In business it’s all about the dream, culture and people you have around you. All the rest are commodities.”

He is supporting companies with topics related with talent acquisition, team building and due diligences of human resources. Marco is a triathlete, very easy-going personality with advanced multicultural skills and expertise in start-ups and business turnaround.

Speciality:

Challenges in the field of Human Resources

Personality:

Cosmopolitan mind set; collaborative & teamworker